

Footfalls echo in the memory down the passage which we did not take

Richard Harding

The musical score consists of several parts:

- Top Staff: A single treble clef staff with a key signature of three sharps (F#, C#, G#). It features three groups of chords indicated by brackets and labels: (XII), (VII / XIX), and (V). The (V) chord is marked with an 8va (octave) sign. Below the staff are diamond-shaped symbols representing fret numbers for each chord.
- Second Row: Two melodic fragments on a treble clef staff. The first is labeled VII and has a fingering of 1, 3, 1, 2, 1. The second is also labeled VII and has a fingering of 1, 3, 1, 4.
- Third Row: Two melodic fragments on a treble clef staff. The first is labeled II and has a fingering of 1, 3, 1, 2, 1. The second is also labeled II and has a fingering of 1, 3, 1, 2, 4.
- Fourth Row: Two melodic fragments on a treble clef staff. The first is labeled CII and has a fingering of 0, 3. The second is also labeled CII and has a fingering of 0, 2.
- Fifth Row: Four empty treble clef staves. The second and fourth staves contain a few notes, while the first and third are empty.

Against a background of sparse, gentle harmonics, the melodic figures are placed.

Play, at all times, quietly and with tranquility.

Other melodic fragments, of greater or lesser duration, may be improvised.